CONGRESS, at the present session, is expected to act upon a bill reported at the last session in support of an international commission to agree upon standard tests for color-blindness and standard requirements for visual powers in navies and merchant marines.

GEN. GARFIELD has four sons—Harry, aged 16; James, 14; Irwin, 10, and Abram, 8—all represented as good and bright boys—and one daughter, Mollie, aged 12. After March 4th next we presume Webb C. Hayes, Rutherford Hayes, Jr., and the other Hayes juveniles will pass out of mind, and the newsgatherers will tell us what Harry, James, Mollie, Irwin and Abram are doing.

A MONTANA newspaper has an interview with Col. Dunn, superintendent of construction of the Utah and Northern, in which the gentleman states that in 1881 one hundred miles of road will be built. Col. Dunn also said that the construction of the Canada Pacific had been assured, he would not be surprised if the U. & N. should continue northward until it connects with the new transcontinental road somewhere in the British possessions.

PRESIDENT HAYES is prompt in appointing a successor to Bortman, as associate justice of this territory. The nomination of Stephen P. Twiss, of Missouri, was sent to the Senate on Wednesday. The gentleman seems to be unknown hereabouts. As it will be impossible for him to give more general disquisition as a judge than his predecessor, we welcome him to his new and difficult duties, and express a decided thankfulness for the change. As there are only three more months of Hayes' term, it is hardly probable that he will hardly pay him to come out here for the winter only.

DAKOTA is prompt at this session of Congress with her application for admission to the Union, a bill for that purpose having been introduced on the first day of the meeting. In all probability Dakota will be the 39th state, but the present Congress will not be apt to let her in. The Democrats were decided in Colorado, which they thought would go with the party that gave it statehood, but our eastern neighbor has persisted in rolling up republican majorities, and has kept a republican congressman and two senators at the capital, with the exception of a brief period when the Democrats perpetrated the highway robbery of taking forcible possession of the seat in the House of Representatives. Before a Democratic Congress creates any more states it will want to know that their first congressional representation at least will be Democratic. Dakota is so hopelessly republican as Kansas, and will therefore have to be content with a territorial government until the Republicans have control of the House, the Senate and the White House, which is not likely to occur for some years.

SOME of the enemies to Utah are making a great fuss over Mr. Hayes because of his reference to this territory in his late message. These people talk and act as if this were the President's first assault upon Utah. Now, as a matter of fact, Mr. Hayes said little more to Congress on the subject last Monday than he did a year ago. Indeed, his late message was seemingly in part copied from that of 1879, the only addition being the suggestion concerning a provisional government, and that point should furnish consolation to no sane or reasonable mind. No intelligent person can have the slightest idea that the suggestion will ever be acted upon favorably. The proposition is so monstrous that we question if a dozen congressmen would vote for it. Instead of applauding Mr. Hayes for trying to do more for the anti-Mormon cause this year than he has done before, the friends of the cause should rather feel like blaming him for putting forth a suggestion that must make him and his advisers appear in a most ridiculous light in the eyes of all who have even slight regard for republican principles. Before those who are indulging in so much gush over his fraudulence, sing any more praises over his conversion to their side, we advise them to hunt up a last year's presidential message, and then read what Mr. Hayes said about Utah and the Mormons; and after they have done this they may glance backwards over the year, and recall any efforts that the gentleman has made to "crush Mormonism." When they have done these things, how many of them will refuse to agree with us in the general proposition that Rutherford B. Hayes, as a man and as President, is no more nor less than a fraud. About the only thing he has done since his previous message, in the way of suppressing polygamy, was to come here, and not only accept the marked attentions of Mormonia, and those generally believed to be polygamists, but to take pains to make himself more than courteously agreeable and pleasant to them. Those who have sucked consolation from Mr. Hayes' late utterances and huggled him as one bent upon "reform" even in Utah, have certainly deluded themselves, or permitted their memories to cheat them.

NOW COMES another boom-buzz king and wants to be a United States senator. The success of Fair in Nevada has made James C. Flood ambitious for senatorial honors, and it is announced that he has made overtures to the California Democrats to make him their candidate. The Democrats are in such a minority in the Golden State legislature, that they cannot elect Flood, unless he will go through. Admitting that he can and would do this, it is hoped the Democrats will have nothing to do with him. There have been enough rich men from the Slope in the Senate. No more are needed. Let us rather have men who are as poor as "Job's turkey," if they possess ability and some knowledge of statesmanship. All of Sharon's millions could not make of him a legislator who would compare with the fourth-rate congressmen. It may also be questioned if his successor can or will do any better, than he has done. Fair may be a Democrat, may know how to sink a shaft or run a tunnel, may be acquainted with the intricacies of managing a mining stock deal, and it is certain he has acquired the art of piling up millions of money, but none of these things argues a fitness for legislative work. We hope he will prove an able man in the sense of a statesman, and be able to show that he did not buy the senatorship for the mere honor that the title confers; but if he should turn out to be a second Sharon, Nevada had better recall him and send in his place one of her poor honest occupants. In the case of Flood the California Democrats ought to abandon all thought of treating with him, no matter what may be his qualifications for the position. This buying of senatorships on the Coast has too long scandalized the people.

IN THE North American Review Richard Grant White says the public schools are a failure. If Mr. White were a Democrat his assertion might be construed into a direct attack upon the family of the president-elect. Both Garfield and his wife were teachers.

THE ELECTRIC light is being used in the underground railway stations of London, and is said to show a saving of 25 per cent. over gas, as well as giving about 20 per cent. more light.

FORTY-SIXTH CONGRESS.

LAST SESSION.

SENATE.

Washington, 8.—Morgan introduced a joint resolution for a constitutional amendment authorizing Congress to establish rules for all matters concerning the election of a president and the result of elections for president and for the government of Congress, such laws not to be changed or repealed within a year before an election occurs in any state.

HOUSE.

Washington, 8.—Fernando Wood agreed to postpone his funding bill until the pending debate on the electoral question is concluded.

Congress recently said Wood should not allow important public business to be interfered with by political discussion.

Wood moved to dispense with the morning hour. Defeated.

Committee reports were called for, but nothing important was reported.

Cook introduced a joint resolution authorizing the President to place U. S. Grant on the retired army list with the rank and pay of general, as a recognition of his services. Referred.

A bill relieving John Horrell, of Maryland, from political disability, moved, but Congress said he understood it had another object, and asked that it be retained on the Speaker's table. Co. ordered.

Backer, from the banking committee, introduced the following substitute for the funding bill, which was referred to the ways and means committee.

Be it enacted, etc., First, in lieu of the act authorized to be issued by the act of June 14, 1880, entitled "An Act to authorize the refunding of the national debt," an act supplementary thereof, the secretary of the treasury is hereby authorized to issue treasury notes of the United States in an amount of not more than $50,000,000 in denominations of not less than $10, and bearing interest at a rate not exceeding 4 per cent. per annum, of which notes not more than $50,000,000 shall mature each year from the date of their issue, and said notes shall be deposited by the secretary at not less than par, and the proceeds thereof shall be applied to the payment of 5 and 6 per cent. bonds of the United States maturing during the year 1880; or the secretary may exchange said treasury notes for said bonds, such terms as he deems most advantageous to the United States. Second, that the secretary of the treasury is authorized to make suitable regulations for disposing of said treasury notes to the best advantage to government, and all expenses attending the same shall not exceed one-quarter of 1 per cent. of the notes so disposed of or exchanged. Third, that the sum of $100,000,000 of coin in the treasury of the United States be set apart as a fund for the redemption of the notes known as legal tender notes, and any surplus of coin over said sum belonging to the United States remaining in the treasury, shall be applied to the purchase or redemption of the sinking fund of any said 5 per cent. maturing in the year 1881.

The House then resumed consideration of the Senate concurrent resolution relative to the electoral count. Congress had the right to provide the voting power beforehand, but if they failed to do so, the ministerial act must stand unquestioned. After being sharply interrogated by various members, and brushing aside most of the queries as being parrot, he gave notice that he would offer the following as a substitute for the concurrent resolution.

Resolved, That the two houses will assemble in the chamber of the House of Representatives on the second Wednesday in February, 1881, at 12 o'clock, that the president of the Senate shall be the presiding officer; that two persons shall be appointed to act as tellers on the part of the Senate and two on the part of the House of Representatives to make a list of votes as they shall be declared; that the result shall be declared by the president of the Senate, who shall announce the state of the vote and the persons elected, to the two houses.

Beams gave notice that as soon as the pending matter was disposed of, he would ask for consideration of the interstate commerce bill.

FATAL FIGHT.

Two Police Officers Attack Each Other—One Killed, the Other Dangerously Wounded.

Louisville, 8.—This afternoon a terrible and fatal fight occurred between two well-known police officers, in which Officer Tom Casey was instantly killed by Officer Brophy. The two officers were on duty on the corner of Broadway and Kentucky streets. The two officers were on very friendly terms, soon quarreled. Casey drew his knife at the same time Brophy got out his pistol. Brophy fired, the ball striking Casey near the right shoulder, but whether the shot was fired before Casey had cut Brophy or not is uncertain. Both attacks were near the same instant. Casey jabbed his knife deep into Brophy's bowels, just over the right hip. Brophy did not fall at once, however, but striking Casey, knocked him down and jumped on him. Casey then reached around his antagonist and attempted to stab him in the back, but before he could succeed, a bystander had secured his knife and dragged the two men apart. After being pulled off of Casey, Brophy said: "I am cut, and cut bad," and turning on his side on an awning in the gutter, he died. Brophy was taken to his home immediately. Brophy was picked up and taken to a room across from where the tragedy occurred. Casey's physician says he has some chance of recovery. Both men have been esteemed members of the police force.

The Tennessee United States Senatorship.

Washington, 8.—A Tennessee Democrat of some prominence who arrived here today, reports that the Republicans may very possibly succeed in getting a United States senator from that state. He says that State Senator Harrison, a prominent Republican, has been elected to the legislature, and secured the administration of that body with the control of a little patronage. Harrison is a native of Tennessee, and a member of the legislature for many years. He is a political friend, but said to Democrats that he had everything arranged to get votes enough in the legislature and that he would be the next senator. The Democrats there believe Harrison has made bargains with certain low law or reputation Democratic members of the legislature to vote for him. It is also said the Tennessee Democrats are growing over the senatorial situation. On the other hand, Representative McMillan, of Tennessee, told a reporter today that he believed the Democrats would get the senator; that the low law men are Democrats on national questions, and he believes they will join in the election of a Democrat. The legislature has to elect state officers below the governor, and McMillan could not say whether they would vote in this or not. He did not speak confidently about the senatorship, but held the opinion that a Democrat would be elected.

The Colorado Ute Bills.

Washington, 8.—The three bills introduced by Senator Teller to amend the act ratifying the Ute agreement, provides, first, for the repeal of that clause which prohibits homestead entries on the Ute reservation after it becomes part of the public domain; secondly, that the commissioners may, if they deem proper, select and allot lands for Colorado Utes outside of the state, instead of being practically limited to lands within its boundaries; third, that the reservation of the Hot Springs and four square miles surrounding them, shall be repealed. Senator Hill, yesterday, introduced a bill, which, in view of the fact that the lands reserved in Colorado under the agreement are found to be unavailable, provides that all the Indians shall be settled upon the Ute reservation, in Utah. It also provides that the Hot Springs reservation shall be reduced to 160 acres, embracing the springs, but to be so located as not to include any of the farming lands. Another bill introduced by Senator Hill, provides for extending the terms of the United States district and circuit courts at Leadville, two each year, in July and December.

The Electric Light in New York.

New York, 8.—The Brush Electric Light Company are erecting iron pillars each a foot in diameter and twenty feet high, one pillar in every block, on Broadway, from Union square to Thirty-fourth street, intended to support lamps by which the company propose to light that portion of the city on Christmas Eve. Each lamp will, it is promised, give 2,000 candle-power light, equal to about 100 gaslights.

Petersburg, Va., had a $40,000 fire on the 7th.

Judge A. M. Billhousie, of Eureka, Nev., died on Wednesday.

Further possible army changes are still being discussed in Washington.

A Montreal dispatch says counterfeit $10 American treasury notes are in circulation.

Gen. Sherman will, it is said, voluntarily retire from the army on his 62d birthday, which comes in April next.

James Burke was accidentally shot and fatally wounded during a row in a saloon on Tuesday night, at Columbus, Colorado.

Sherman says that he and Foster are the firmest friends, and any contest between them for the senatorship will be conducted in a proper spirit.

Senator Teller has introduced a bill in the Senate making ballots for representatives uniform all over the country, and governing elections generally.

Secretary Sherman announces that he will do his best with 5 per cent. bond, although he thinks it would be wiser to leave the matter to his discretion.
